Since then and in alignment with global demand for going green, the Group started investing in eco-friendly power electronics technology with products that are managed from critical data center information (UPS, batteries, solar panel) to a sophisticated network server. Two different brands of commercial and industrial battery where acquired, making the Group one of the leading distributors in the whole of Lebanon. Old tires are a major source of pollution, so Ziadeh Group decided to contribute to reducing the environmental pollution by establishing a retreading and recycling of old tires factory. Retreading is a responsible process that clearly meets the customers' safety criteria, whilst respecting the environment and preserving resources.

Retreading was expanded further by establishing a line of production which included the manufacturing and sales of different rubber products in addition of the sales of recycled steel.
